

EPRA International Journal of
Socio-Economic and Environmental Outlook

SJIF Impact Factor (2015) : 4.312

Vol. 3 February - January 2016-17

EPRA Journals

FEATURES OF MUSLIMS EDUCATION IN ANCIENT INDIA

Mohd.Abdul Hai<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup>Lecturer, Govt: D.I.E.T, Warangal, Telangana, India

ABSTRACT

Many countries of the Third World are engaged in restructuring their educational systems in order to meet their current socio-economic needs as well as their developmental aspirations. It conforms that education can act as an effective instrument of social change. In almost every country where a revolution for changing the course of its history has taken place, the system of education has been radically changed so as to make it a sub-system to serve the new societal goals. Narayan Reddy (1966).

KEYWORDS: Educational Systems, Medicine, Agriculture, Geography, Religious Knowledge.