

‘LEADERS’ & ‘MANAGERS’

✍ Prof. Khalid Alyamoor¹ & Dr Wasim Ahmad²

¹Professor, College of Education, American University in the Emirates, Dubai International Academic City, Dubai, UAE

²Assistant Professor, College of Education, American University in the Emirates, Dubai International Academic City, Dubai, UAE

Write-Up

1. Among ‘leaders’ and ‘managers,’ who ‘motivates’ and who ‘inspires’?
2. What is the difference between ‘motivation’ and ‘inspiration’?
3. Among ‘leaders’ and ‘managers,’ who assesses ‘speech’ alone and who assesses ‘silence’ as well as ‘speech’?
4. Among ‘leaders’ and ‘managers,’ who asks others to “openly share what you feel and think” and who creates an environment wherein everyone automatically shares what he feels and thinks?
5. Among ‘leaders’ and ‘managers,’ who asks the people to come up and who brings the people up?
6. Among ‘leaders’ and ‘managers,’ who focuses on doing the things right and who on doing the right things?
7. Among ‘leaders’ and ‘managers,’ who is loved and who is feared?
8. ‘Leaders’ manage better OR ‘managers’ do?
9. Among ‘leaders’ and ‘managers,’ who asks for more ideas and who asks for more actions?
10. Among ‘leaders’ and ‘managers,’ who thinks that getting ideas is more difficult and who thinks that getting actions is more difficult?